Label reading is the best way to get information about processed fruit or vegetable juices and drinks. Contents are printed on the label in order of decreasing weight. There is a definite difference in the content of drinks and beverages offered in the stores today.

Juices include no added water but consist only of juice or juice and finely divided pulp. If sugar is added it will be listed on the label. Cocktails and nectars are usually mixtures of juices and pulps with water and in some cases sugar and seasonings. Fruit drinks contain as little as ten (10) percent fruit juice. Fruit punch is a mixture of juices.

The combination of juice ingredients will be listed on the label with the one listed first in largest amount. Instant and powdered drinks and liquid concentrates contain fruit or imitation flavor, fruit acid and added color. Some are packed with sugar.

Conservation

In the next 30 years, it is expected there will be 120 million more people in the United States. With growing urgency, as our population increases, we must be concerned with learning how to conserve and gain the greatest benefit from the land and forest resources of this nation.

Describing true conservation, an official of one of the nation's major timber and forest products companies said, "... there are beautiful and special places in our magnificent country which must be left aside unspoiled and untrammelled. But we are at a point of crisis for land use and we do need for reason in facing this crisis.

"Conservation is not locking the forest away. Conservation is the multiple use of the forest. It is first the perpetuation of the forest in our age groups of trees so that the nation may have the benefit of products from this renewable resource forever. It is the use of the forest for grazing, water retention, for wildlife, for all the recreation activities from driving, to camping, to back riding, picnicking, fishing, rock hound hunting, gold panning or what have you. It is using the total benefit from the forest ... not just serving it, not just making of it a cellulose cement but keeping it vital for the most citizens."

Modern timber companies are learning to grow trees faster and to use each part of each tree completely to make thousands of wood products that are part of our everyday lives. Major land owning timber companies have begun gold mines of informed leadership in the development of creative land use policies that can assure perpetual abundance, enjoyment and recreation that can be realized from this nation's forest.

YOU DIDN'T

By Bill Schoor
How did the custom of cheering and cheer leaders start in football? When the first intercollegiate game was played in 1869 between Princeton and Rutgers, Princeton players got the idea of trying to upset Rutgers players by yelling every time Rutgers put the ball in play. But there was one thing wrong with this plan. Although the yelling did upset Rutgers, at the same time, it bothered the Princeton players because they had to use too much effort in yelling and it distracted them from their own play. So, for the second game against Rutgers, a Princeton man got the great idea of having some of the students along the sideline do the yelling instead of the players. A few students were chosen and taught what to yell and when to yell. And that's how the tradition was born.

Things I See

By John G.

Did you see the article Oct. 24th in the Avalanche from Lansing entitled Join to Stamp Out Litterbugs?

It tells how Michigan State Police, County Sheriffs' departments, and Michigan Department of Conservation are stamping down on littering along this state's highways, shorelines and recreation areas.

This is fine and we all want littering stopped — but — let's take a look at the other side of the coin.

What are Grayling and Crawford County doing to provide litter barrels in town and on our main roads in the county?

Have you ever taken a good look at the beach at Lake Margrethe along M-12? There are no litter barrels but always a lot of litter. We think it's time the County Board of Supervisors face up to the issue and provide litter barrels at strategic spots in our county.

The closing of the dump west of Grayling by the board was another sad mistake that the supervisors should rectify.

If we want to control litter we must provide convenient places for the disposal of rubbish by the people that come into our county for recreation. We have litter because we don't provide facilities.

Now let's look at what we do to clean up the litter in Crawford County. Not much!!! We suggest that on the next field trip made by the County Road Commission they take a look in the ditches and observe the tons of cans, bottles, and paper lying there waiting to be picked up. When???

The following are suggestions for action that will reduce the litter problem:

1. Place litter receptacles on main street corners in Grayling.

2. Place litter barrels on main roads in Crawford County.

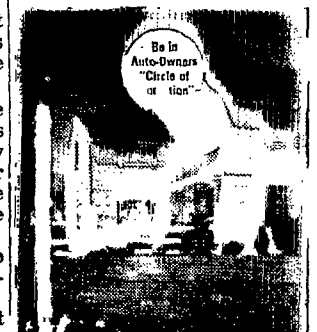

3. Have County road crews clean up all litter lying along our roads and keep it cleaned up.

4. Reopen a dump on the west side of Grayling so weekend residents in the Lake Margrethe and Manistee River area can dispose of their rubbish in an orderly manner.

OPEN MORE OF I-75 IN ARENAC COUNTY

LANSING — Michigan's longest freeway, Interstate 75 between the Ohio border and Sault Ste. Marie, will be another step nearer completion this week when 12 miles are opened in Arenac County, the State Highway Commission announced today.

The opening will mark 85 percent completion of the 393.6 mile freeway. Construction is underway on another 12.2 miles in Arenac, Oakland and Wayne counties, and scheduled on the remaining 44.5 miles in Crawford, Ogemaw and Roscommon counties.

It is also one of the most scenic drives in the state, crossing from the Saginaw Bay flatlands into the rolling hills of central Michigan. It is lined by aspen, maple, oak, conifer and white birch.

Until the highway is linked with existing Interstate 75 at Grayling in late 1971 or early 1972, it will be known as M-76. Contractor on the $9 million construction project was Haloway Construction Co. of Wixom.

Vikings Forfeit Jordan Game

October 28, 1968
Mr. Elmer L. Fenton, Principal Grayling High School, Grayling, Michigan.

Dear Mr. Fenton:
The situation involving the use of an ineligible player by Grayling High School in a football game with East Jordan on October 11, 1968, was reviewed by the Executive Committee at its meeting October 25, 1968.

It is understood that Mr. Michael Wieland, Football Coach had been notified that Terry Hatfield was ineligible for interscholastic competition because he was in his ninth semester in high school. The coach allowed him to dress and subsequently enter the ball game at East Jordan.

It was the opinion of the Committee that Coach Wieland should be censured in his action for allowing an ineligible player to participate in interscholastic football games. In addition, the game is to be forfeited to East Jordan High School.

The officials of the school at Grayling are to be commended for their prompt action in reporting the situation as soon as it came to their attention.

Sincerely,
Allen W. Bush, State Director Michigan High School Athletic Association

GETTING UP NIGHTS MAKES MANY OF US FEEL OLD. Common Kidney or Bladder Irritations make many men and women feel tense and nervous from frequent, burning or itching urination night and day. Secondly, you may lose sleep and have Headache, Backache and a tired, depressed, irritable and quivering attitude.

UNICEF Thanks

The boys and girls of Michelson Memorial Church wish to thank the people of Grayling who were so kind to contribute $130.85 to their recent UNICEF Trick or Treat fund collection. UNICEF is the United Nations International Children's Emergency fund.

Many wonderful experiences were had by the boys and girls as they went from door to door.

MSU Serves People Locally

By Willard Bossorman
County Extension Natural Resource Agent

Michigan State University has an off-campus office serving Roscommon and Crawford counties. The office is that of the Cooperative Extension Service which is located in the county building, Roscommon. The MSU staff is myself, and Merrill Lacasse, 4-H Youth and Extension Home Economist. We are employed and paid by Michigan State University.

Our office secretary, Mrs. Robert Higgins, and office supplies and other operational expenses are shared equally by Roscommon and Crawford counties. Roscommon County supplies the office and equipment and has the benefit of having the agents located within its boundaries.

The United States Department of Agriculture also contributes by supplying mailing privileges and monies for certain programs in marketing.

As you might expect, the function of the Cooperative Extension Service of MSU is education. It takes on a very informal education as needed aspect. Right now I am assisting several townships in Roscommon County to interpret a comprehensive plan into a workable zoning ordinance to implement that plan.

In Crawford County I am assisting the County Planning Commission in developing a zoning ordinance to fill in the interim between now and the time when a comprehensive plan can be developed.

As County Extension Natural Resource Agent I gave Grayling Township, through the Ausable River Watershed Study Council, guidance in developing the first workable green belt zoning ordinance in the state of Michigan. Higgins Township, Roscommon County included the green belt in their zoning ordinance.

A part of my task this past summer was supervising the Ausable River land use study made by Miss Lou Anne Higgins for the Ausable River Watershed Study Council.

Merrill Lacasse assists and helps train 4-H club leaders, who in turn teach boys and girls 4-H club members' learn skills by studying a project, which might be clothing, electricity or conservation. Learning by doing a project is only part of 4-H work. They experience leadership by being officers in a club. They widen their friendship by attending a 4-H camp or going to State 4-H Show on the MSU campus.

Miss Lacasse has many campus based specialists and local people to assist her in bringing family living information to the area's homemakers. Some of the resource people participating in this year's program are Miss Muriel Brink, foods and nutrition, MSU, Dr. Robert Bartholow, Dean of General Studies, Kirtland Community College, Dr. Charles Shipman, North Michigan Child Guidance Clinic and Dr. E. J. Ponczek, outpatient clinic, Traverse City State Hospital.

Although there is an Extension Home-makers organization in the two county area, headed by Mrs. Kenneth Teeter, it is not necessary to belong to a group to take advantage of MSU's Extension of education. Questions concerning any phase of homemaking are welcomed and the whole of MSU's resources will be used in finding answers.

Farmers seek information on lime and fertilizers to get maximum crop yields. They come to us for facts on raising beef calves and sheep. We also give them an assist on marketing their beef calves through a co-operative feeder cattle sale recently held in West Branch.

Your tax dollars spent for your Cooperative Extension Service of Michigan State University is an investment for for greater returns for the future.

3 Local Teenagers Attend 4-H Meet

Last week three Grayling teenagers, Sandy Burns, Lynn Kolla and Mark Wieber, attended a three-day 4-H Junior Leader training school at Camp Kett near Cadillac. They were among 54 4-Hers who represented counties all over lower Michigan.

The training tips touched on by the Junior Leaders were recreation and program leadership, how to help children at camp, and how to help them get the most out of their programs.

Thursday, Friday, and a half day Saturday were spent in informal classes and Friday night a banquet and Halloween party were enjoyed by all.

The training session was sponsored and financed by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

4-H leader Mrs. Earl Burns drove the young people to Cadillac on Thursday and made a second trip to bring them back again.

Faulty Forecast

It didn't hold up: the forecast that draft law changes would cause a big drop in graduate school enrollments in Michigan this fall.

Officials at Michigan State University, the University of Michigan and Wayne State University report graduate student numbers are down only slightly from last year.

U-M enrollment is 8,337, a decrease of three percent from 1957's fall term. MSU has 7,700 students on hand this autumn, about the same as last year. Wayne State reports little change.

Col. Arthur A. Holmes, state selective service director, said the predictions of a mammoth decline didn't come true because:

Deferments were issued to students married before Aug. 28, 1958; married students with children; and students over 26. Voluntary enlistments, mostly among last June's high school graduates, filled up draft quotas. Smaller than anticipated draft calls for Michigan during September and October.

A great hue and cry went up from graduate schools when the new policy on draft deferments was announced. Col. Holmes said, "Some educators predicted enrollment drops of 40 percent, but it just didn't happen."

Last February military draft deferments were eliminated for all but medical and ministry graduate students. Previously a college graduate could be deferred for advance study without qualification.

College officials say they are still concerned about the future impact of the law change on graduate enrollments.

"Right now our situation looks good on paper," said an MSU spokesman. "However, I suspect it will change by January or February if the calls go up and the draft boards begin dipping down into the graduate schools."

Choosing leaders by periodic election may be a good political system, but it is also a costly one, says Michigan's chief elections official.

Sec. of State James M. Hare says the expense of printing the ballots alone runs to more than $500,000. Heaped on top of that are the $15 million worth of voting machines the state owns, and the money which must be paid to persons working at the 5,383 precincts.

"If you take a conservative estimate of just five persons working at each polling place and an equally conservative estimate of pay based on $15 a day, this item alone amounts to over $400,000," Hare said.

Nearly 90 percent of Michigan's voters will cast their ballots on voting machines in the Nov. 5 election, the secretary of state estimates.

The most recent registration figures show 3,336,808 eligible voters in the state, of whom 2,838,120 live in precincts with machines.

The state has 4,067 machine precincts and 1,316 which use the paper ballots, Hare added.

Only four of the state's 83 counties—Bay, Ottawa, Muskegon and Kalamazoo—have completely converted to machines. But Hare says that 31 counties are more than 50 percent converted and 66 counties have at least one machine.

The changeover to machines was most pronounced between 1955 and 1958, Hare says, when the number of machine precincts climbed from 1,700 to nearly 3,300.

Graduated Tax?
Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley says the constitutional amendment for a graduated income tax in Michigan is not self-executing. He says a sliding-scale tax could only be levied with the authorization of the legislature.

Presently the Michigan Constitution restricts the state to a flat-rate income tax. State law limits all cities, except Detroit, to a one percent levy on residents, and one-half of one percent on non-residents.

The amendment would remove the constitutional prohibition against villages, charter townships and school districts levying an income tax, according to Kelley.

He added, however, that before any of these political units could impose an income tax, graduated or fixed rate, they would need permission from the legislature.

Gov. George Romney is opposed to a graduated income tax in Michigan. He says the federal government has pre-empted this field.

The state tax rate now is 2.6 percent on personal earnings, and 5.6 percent for corporations.

School Trains Clowns for The Big Top

A new generation of the big-shoed, red-nosed comics will take their place "under-the-big-top" when the new crop graduates from the first clown school in the country at Venice, Florida.

Disturbed that most circus clowns in the United States were approaching retirement age, and that a very few replacements were coming along, Mel Miller, a onetime clown, is running the school for Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, for young ambitious people "who think they can be funny."

The school covers acrobatics, make-up, juggling, and the heritage of clowns in a six-to-eight week course.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,

Many people have written me expressing their views on gun control legislation which was pending before the House of Representatives. As you may know, one of the last items on the legislative calendar of the House was the conference report on H.R. 17735, the State Firearms Control Assistance Act. This conference report was accepted by the Congress on Friday, Oct. 11. I thought that you might be interested in the provisions of this law as finally passed by the Congress and signed by the President.

You will note that there are no provisions for federal registration or licensing included in the bill. As I have stated in the past, it appears to me that any legislation in this regard should be taken care of on the state level. Keeping track of over 150 million weapons, constantly changing hands, in a Washington bureau, seems to me to be an impossible task. All other licensing and registration laws are handled by the states and I believe that, if these restrictions are to be imposed, they ought to be done on a manageable level.

I feel that the provisions of the present law are a reasonable approach to a very difficult problem. According to this legislation, obviously unstable members of our society will find it difficult to obtain lethal weapons while those who have a legitimate need for guns will be able to obtain them without undue restriction.

Since I presume your readers are interested in the subject of gun control legislation, I am forwarding the enclosed summary of the provisions of the latest law in order that you might be able to provide whatever information your readers desire.

Sincerely yours,
Elford A. Cederberg

Summary of the Provisions of H.R. 17735

Firearms Control Act

This bill generally imposes the same restrictions on rifles and shotguns that were imposed on handguns by the Omnibus Crime Bill, H.R. 17735.

1) prohibits the sale of rifles and shotguns to persons under 18 years of age. Note that it does not prohibit possession or use by those under 18;

2) prohibits the interstate mail order sale of rifles and shotguns except between licensees;

3) prohibits over-the-counter sale of these weapons to non-residents of the state of purchase except:

- a) to persons from contiguous states if the laws allow such sale, and
- b) upon execution of an affidavit of the right to purchase, notice to the law enforcement officer of the buyer's residential area, and a seven-day waiting period;

4) allows the purchase of a replacement rifle or shotgun for one which was lost, stolen, or became inoperative in the course of hunting or an organized rifle or shotgun match, providing that a sworn affidavit to that effect is presented and notice is made to the local law enforcement official in the buyer's residential area;

5) provides that all non-over-the-counter firearms purchasers comply with the affidavit, notice, and waiting period provisions described in 3 (b);

6) extends coverage under the provisions of the act to all ammunition so that ammunition may not be sold to juveniles, by mail order, or to convicted felons, fugitives from justice, drug addicts, or mental incompetents;

7) establishes a category of "licensed collector" subject to the regulation of the Secretary of the Treasury;

8) imposes import restrictions designed to control the flood of surplus, military weapons and low-priced foreign-made firearms;

9) establishes a penalty of not less than one year nor more than ten years for using a firearm in the commission of a federal crime, and provides further that a penalty of not less than five years nor more than 25 years be automatically imposed upon conviction for use of a firearm in these circumstances a second or third time;

10) exempts shipments of firearms and ammunition by the Secretary of the Army under the Civilian Marksmanship Program;

11) expands the National Firearms Act to include additional weapons, notably destructive devices (mainly military explosive weapons).

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

SHORT OF A MIRACLE

Rome's Coliseum, partly tumbled into ruin, is considered one of the wonders of the world. It was built in 80 A. D.—and that is a long time ago, to be sure. Yet it is but a second when measured against the ages that have passed since God created the world.

The Coliseum—wonder that it is—is also visible proof of the limit of man's accomplishments. We consider it nothing short of a miracle that something built by man has endured that long. Yet those things created by God remain endless and eternal.

God's works should, indeed, fill even the wisest of us with wonder, with awe, and with gratitude. We tend to take them all too much for granted. We tend, at times, to forget them—and even to forget Him entirely.

Discover God again, in the church of your choice and in the process, rediscover yourself.

WAGES AND GIFTS

WAGES are payment for effort bestowed,
GIFTS are tokens of love.

For the WAGES of sin is death; but the GIFT of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Rom. 6:23

And this is the record, that God hath GIVEN to us eternal life, and this life is in His son. He that hath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life.

I John 5:11-12

It is a poor bargain to work for the WAGES of sin, and pass up the world's greatest GIFT, Eternal life through Jesus Christ.

SCOUTING NEWS

On Sept. 27, 24 Boy Scouts attended an overnight camporee at the Big River recreation area. They were chaperoned by Jim Felling, Bob Larson, Bob Yoder and Bob Houghton. From all reports the fellows had a great time.

Oct. 26 there was a leadership training session at the Paul Bunyan Scout reservation, with an overnight trip for boys and adults. Those attending were Bernard Larson, Tom Stanton, Robert Yoder Jr., Steve Church, Bryan Biesak, Jim Felling, and Steve Fick along with chaperones Bob Larson and Ken Carlisle.

On Oct. 27 the Scouts who had not made the trip to Mackinac Island were treated to the football game between the Detroit Lions and San Francisco 49ers in Detroit. They were Dan and Pat McIsaac, Jim Alef, Mitchell Millikin, Don Latusek, and Ron Hall. Accompanying them were Bob Yoder and Bob Houghton.

SCHOOL HALLOWEEN PARTY A SUCCESS

The annual Halloween Party was held in the high school gym on Oct. 31 from 7:30 to 10:00. Approximately 300 students were present. The "Hobo theme" was carried out very well by the students. Holly Knibbs and Joe Elsenbaas were voted as winners for the most original dress.

Susanne Pearsall won the door prize. These students were given a free 1968-69 year book. Julie Thayer and Dean Molnar were given school dictionaries for their tie in the limbo game.

Individual prizes of candy bars were given to the 10 team members of the winning relay games. The Sophomore class won the $5.00 prize for winning the most games.

The group of students consumed 21 cases of pop and 30 dozen fried cakes. The fried cakes were furnished by the Men's Club of the St. Mary's Church. They were very much appreciated, thank you.

The men teachers of the Grayling High School are to be complimented for their efforts in putting on this party for the St. Mary's 7th and 8th graders and the 7th through the 12th graders of Grayling High School.

COOR Receives Bowler's Check

PICTURED are Basil I. Godbold, Sup. of COOR, Intermittent School District and Mrs. Veltan McKinley accepting a $500 check on behalf of the Michigan Association for Retarded Children COOR Area from John Snyder, bowling proprietor from Alpena and treasurer of the Bowling Proprietors of Michigan. The money is to go toward the purchase of a school bus to transport youngsters to and from school.

The COOR Area Branch of the Michigan Association for Retarded Children had the pleasure of accepting a check for $500.00 from the Bowler's Charities Tournament which was sponsored by the Bowling Proprietors of Michigan.

This tournament once again illustrates that "bowlers never forget." Representatives from the Michigan Heart Association, the American Cancer Society, Michigan Division, Detroit Association for the Mentally Retarded, Michigan Association for Retarded Children, Coldwater State Home and Training School for the Mentally Retarded, Old Newsboys' Goodfellow Fund, Mary Free Bed Hospital, Boys Clubs, Big Brother Organizations, Ruth Alden Dress Drive and State Training Schools all gathered together in Lansing to receive a generous share of the fruits of this tournament promotion.

Dick Anderson, president of the Bowling Proprietors, stated: "A major portion of the funds this year were used to aid the mentally retarded, which I am sure all will agree is a problem much in need of this type of financial and moral support."

Charles Walby of Detroit, immediate past president and chairman of the committee that selects the charities, said: "I only hope that the bowlers will realize just what their support means to this event and perhaps we will reach our $100,000 goal next year and all the more charities will benefit."

ALF REPORTS ON SAVINGS BONDS

John H. Alef, Crawford County chairman for U.S. Savings Bonds reports that recent legislation permits the redemption of Savings Notes (Freedom Shares) in the same manner as Series E Bonds.

Formerly, Freedom Shares had to be forwarded to a Federal Reserve Bank or the Treasurer of the United States for redemption.

Chairman Alef points out that this new legislation makes Freedom Shares an even more cheerful companion to Series E Bonds. Freedom Shares, issued on and after June 1, 1968, now pay 5 percent, compounded semiannually, if held to maturity of 4 1/2 years.

Freedom shares may be purchased on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or over the counter at your bank — in combination with Series E Bonds of the same or larger denomination. They must be held for one year before they may be redeemed.

Previews of Progress

THE MOON ROVER — A model of an unmanned lunar roving vehicle that runs on sunlight is shown in action in this time exposure. The button-like photovoltaic cells on the hood turn light energy into electrical energy to move the model vehicle. A 300-watt lamp simulates the sun. The Moon Rover is one of the demonstrations in the General Motors science show Previews of Progress. The 40-minute, admission-free, science in action stage show dramatizes the wonders of science before two million American students and adults each year.

Local students will look into the future when General Motors "Previews of Progress" science show appears at Grayling High School on Tuesday, Nov. 12, at 2:20 p.m.

The non-commercial show, according to General Motors President Edward N. Cole, "seeks to inspire more student interest in science and engineering careers to provide the trained talent America needs to keep pace with the promise of the future."

Previews demonstrations depict work being done today in America's research laboratories and point out the contributions of research to modern living. A two-man team narrates the live show in non-technical language.

More than 30-million American students and adults have seen Previews since 1946. Millions more have seen the world-famous GM show in Canada and 25 foreign countries, including special presentations made overseas at the request of the U.S. Department of Commerce.

Featured in the current show are several energy conversion demonstrations — gas turbine engines, fuel cells and solar cells. Fuel cells convert chemical energy into electrical power and solar cells change sunlight into usable energy.

Another sequence, based on information obtained over the years in GM automotive safety engineering tests, emphasizes the importance of wearing seat belts when driving or riding in an automobile.

In all, students will see nine research in action demonstrations. Previews has received wide acclaim from educators and civic organizations for its efforts in encouraging more student interest in technical career opportunities.

WASHINGTON AND SMALL BUSINESS

BY C. WILSON HARRIS

Sophisticated Gold Rush

In California gold rush days, an anonymous prospector uttered an ungrammatical sentence that became famous: "There's gold in them thar hills."

As his word spread from coast to coast, it was embellished to the effect that gold was just lying on the ground, waiting for someone to come along and pick it up. To their dismay, many prospectors found this to be an exaggeration.

Now another gold rush is on and the destination this time is Washington, D.C. Many of the prospectors are local and state government officials, and men representing corporations and foundations. The word passing among them is, to paraphrase the 49'er, "There's gold in those Federal agencies, just waiting for us to ask for it."

This gold rush is largely based on the new-fangled thing they call "Federal grants-in-aid," or simply, Federal grants. These are written into programs like highway construction and urban redevelopment, and provide funds usually matched or supplemented by state or local governments.

This type of joint expenditure has become so popular in the last 15 years that some 20 billion dollars a year of Federal money is now spent this way.

The Federal grant system has been widely criticized for giving the Federal bureaucracy too much power over the states, since the states must conform to Federal regulations to receive this money, and also because of the inefficiency, red tape, and duplication of effort.

San Francisco Mayor Dianne Feinstein, who has been dropping its veteran Washington lobbyist and diverting his talents to the Stanford Research Institute for a scientific research Federal subsidies and grants.

How sophisticated these gold-diggers are!

We know that life offers us new and thrilling opportunities with each new day, because God is always with us with His providing substance. So let's always turn to God for the inspiration to do the things that we should do.

Fraser Dean Attends Education Workshop

Fraser Dean, assistant school superintendent, attended the State Community Workshop held in Flint on October 23, 24 and 25. Sponsor for the workshop was the Mott Foundation of Flint.

As guests of the Mott Foundation, participants visited several outstanding schools in the Flint area, observed several innovative programs, and discussed problems of mutual interest with the school administrators.

Highlighting Mr. Dean's visit to Flint was an afternoon spent as Flint's Durant-Tuuri-Mott school, one of the finest schools in the country working with handicapped children. Other schools visited were Northwestern High School, Southwestern High School, Flint Community College, and the special education department at C. S. Mott Children's Health Center.

In addition to visiting schools, workshop participants were given an opportunity to hear nationally famous speakers discuss the problems and objectives of public education today. An unexpected but much appreciated speaker was C. S. Mott, 93-year-old founder of the Mott Foundation.

HELPS SURVEY

Wednesday of last week Bob Hayes picked up three balloons, red, white and blue, with a card attached. On it was the name of Mark Tetneir, saying these were part of a science experiment at Pershing School conducted October 15, 1968. Finder was requested to fill in the card and drop it in the mail, giving where found, time, name of finder, and condition of the balloons. (The red one was still partially inflated). Bob replied as requested and asked for the results of the survey. The balloons were found in the eastern half of Kalkaska County south of M-72.
